

Our challenges don't define us. Our actions do.

PLAN OF ATTACK • YOU GOT THIS!

By making it this far, you now have the tools to get you to the final round and get a total knockout. Head back to your original goal sheet. It's now time to review your goals and keep yourself accountable. What steps are you are going to take, both long term and short term, to achieve your goals? Remember, achieving your goals takes time and hard work. After putting in the hard work and effort, did you crush them? If you did then that means it's time to establish another goal!

You have now made it to what I call "the beginning of the end". It's time to re-test yourself. Go back to your original printout and input your new times. DON'T be discouraged if they didn't improve. There are always factors at play here. As an example, when you originally tested yourself you could have been on a really good day and today you were having a bad day. If this is the case then wait for tomorrow or later today to test again.

You have been doing a modified version of our special customized exercise program that we offer at Boxing 4 Health. If you did improve over the last few weeks then that's fantastic! To tell you the truth, I wasn't expecting big results over this short time period. I just want you to understand the importance of working out the right way, with the right tools and the potential impact that it could have.

You can save the test results and redo them in a few months once you have found an awesome exercise program or decide to join the in-person or online program that we offer. I wish you nothing but the best on this new journey and I hope you stay in touch as I will continue to have your back and be one of your number one fans!

Lots of love coming your way, YOU GOT THIS!

Xo

Christine